

THE LIBRARY DRAGONS

by childbook.ai

Once upon a time, in a cozy library, there lived a friendly and happy dragon named Red Dragon. Red Dragon loved spending time with the children who came to read books.

Although Red Dragon had many friends at the library, there was one special friend missing - Orange Dragon. Red Dragon felt a bit lonely without Orange Dragon around.

One day, the Friends of the Library, two kind elderly women with silver hair, noticed Red Dragon's sadness. They promised to help find Orange Dragon and bring the friends together.

The Friends of the Library embarked on a mission to locate Orange Dragon. They searched through books, maps, and old scrolls to discover where Orange Dragon lived.

After days of research, the Friends of the Library finally found Orange Dragon's home. They quickly wrote a letter inviting Orange Dragon to visit Red Dragon at the library.

To everyone's delight, a response arrived from Orange Dragon, saying that the dragon was on the way to the library. Excitement filled the air, but they knew Orange Dragon had a long journey ahead.

As days passed, the Friends of the Library and Red Dragon eagerly awaited the arrival of Orange Dragon. The children at the library joined in the anticipation, eager to meet the new dragon friend.

When the day finally came, Orange Dragon landed at the library, greeted by cheers and smiles. The Friends of the Library suggested giving real names to the dragons, and with the help of the children, Red Dragon and Orange Dragon became known by their new names, bringing joy and friendship to the library.